

Connections
A roundtable on current international research on the Chinese Maritime Customs Service

23 February 2013

This roundtable aims to facilitate the exchange of information about current projects internationally which explore the history and the archives of the Chinese Maritime Customs Service. Project leaders from China, Taiwan and the UK will discuss the current state of the field, future plans, and the potential for interaction and networking between the initiatives, and between professionals, academics, archivists and librarians.

- 9.30: Coffee
- 10.00: Welcome and Introduction
- 10.10: Chinese Studies in the UK and China, and relevant CMCS materials – past and present
- 11.15: Coffee Break
- 11.30: History of the Chinese Maritime Customs and the EU-China relations.
- 1:00: End & Lunch

Panel Participants:

Li Yan (Vice President, China Customs Institute)
Wu Songdi (Fudan University, Shanghai)
Henk Vynckier (Tung-Hai University, Taiwan)
Robert Bickers (University of Bristol)

Venue: Royal Holloway University of London, 2 Gower Street, London WC1E 6DP (but please go to 11 Bedford Square to sign in first, this is just around the corner from the venue)

All welcome!

R.S.V.P., contact Weipin Tsai (weipin.tsai@rhul.ac.uk).

British Inter-university China Centre