Dear Parents/Carers

Today your child will bring home a grid with a range of numeracy activities. These are short activities that you and your child can do to develop early number skills. Many of them don't need to be done at a table and could be done in the car, while you are out for a walk etc.

This alongside the phonics sheets and the magnetic letters you have already been getting will be your child's Home Learning until the October holiday.

We are very aware that as your child begins full days at school he/she may be very tired. At this stage, please see all these activities as things that can be done to support /reinforce your child's learning rather than things that must be done. It is vital that such activities do not become a battle between you and your child. As a general rule a little and often is best if your child is keen.

If you have any questions regarding P1 Home Learning or anything else for that matter, please do not hesitate to ask one of us.

Yours sincerely

Caroline Findlay
